

Working Toward Common Safety Goals

Since 1972, MPW Industrial Services has remained the leading single source provider of integrated, technology-based industrial cleaning, chemical cleaning, facility management, container management, and water purification services in North America. MPW was one of the first industrial cleaning companies to establish a full-time safety and training program.

MPW's comprehensive Health & Safety Program serves as a role model for the industry. The program includes 30-hours of classroom and hands-on training. MPW links its safety performance to several in-place procedures designed to deliver concrete safety improvements within industrial and manufacturing settings, including:

- H&S Supervisors Assigned to Projects
- Safety Tail-Gate Meetings
- Safety Observation Documentation
- Health & Safety Audits
- JSA's (Job Safety Analysis)
- Safety Improvement Committees
- OSHA, Hands-On & Refresher Training
- Job Performance Evaluations

MPW has held a three year EMR rating well below 1.00. We recognize that all associates must be committed to the safety process and that they must be totally engaged in the process if safety goals are to be achieved.

Since no two companies are alike, the common goal should be to reduce job-site incidents and accidents by increasing safety awareness. This is MPW's commitment to our customers as we continue to set and improve upon standards.

MPW's network of Safety Committees are established to guide the safety improvement process by ensuring compliance with internal job safety policies and procedures, community standards, and regulatory requirements.

MPW's safety coin was instituted into the workforce in 2006. Every employee – from corporate level to field personnel – carries the coin as a consistent reminder to their commitment to safety.
