

Emergency Labor Support Services

Returning employees to safe workplaces following COVID-19 related shutdowns can be a complicated task.

Maintaining these workplaces remain a priority, as safety, health and environmental programs, policies and procedures continue to evolve.

MPW's Emergency Labor Support Services allow customers to easily navigate the "new normal."

SUPPORT SERVICES

MPW can serve you during and after the pandemic. We deliver our industrial decontamination services in whole or in part according to your facility's needs. We are also available to train your employees in our decontamination policies and procedures.
